Welcome to the amazing ^{mediterranean} mediterranean school in Yunlin, ladies and gentlemen. We are students from Yangtze high school. I'm glad to have the opportunity to introduce our school to you. Founded sixty years ago, this school is famous for its blue-and-white appearance. It is in this school that we can see the pure joy and the enthusiasm of teenagers.

Let's talk about here. This place is called "the tutorship office" according to the sign outside. To get here, firstly, you have to go through the gate and walk straight until you see the corridor on your left; then turn left and walk to the square; finally, you need only to recognize those six palm trees in front of the office.

In front of the office, there usually are about five students standing for punishment. What's so funny is that they're asked to carry their textbooks because teachers want them to study while students are ^{being} punished. ~~Inside the office~~, When you enter the office, you should lower your voices and be respect to those hard-working teachers. They are either preparing for the next class or dealing with business in class.

There is one thing I find the tutorship office interesting, which is you can simply figure out what the teacher teaches by their books or equipments on the desk. For example, I notice that this teacher leaves her voc book on the table, and it shows that she an English teacher.

This is all for today's school tour guide, see you next time!
